PROSPECTUS

Over the past four years, the Salisbury State College field hockey team has compiled the best winning percentage (51-8-3, .864) among all of the school's 21 intercollegiate programs.

That record includes campaigns of 12-3 in 1976, 14-1 in 1977, 17-1-1 in '78 and last season's Maryland Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women champion's 8-3-2 ledger.

And the architect of this upper stratosphere success, head coach Sharon Yeagle, feels this fall's edition of the She Gulls is simply one of her strongest squads yet.

"For one reason or another, I have never had what could truly be termed an experienced team," said Yeagle on the eve of the upcoming campaign. "But most of the players on this year's team have played together and have developed a winning tradition. Plus they are fast, aggressive and display good stick work."

Heading the list of returnees are the top three scorers from last year, sophomore Lori Ford, senior Susan Elliott and sophomore Cindy Zile.

Ford, a left inside, slammed in 13 goals a year ago and assisted on one other, while Elliott scored nine goals and assisted on four more from her right inner spot. Zile, a wing, notched seven goals.

Other veterans who started, or saw considerable playing time last season, include: senior Suzanna Mallow, the center halfback who glues the defense together; junior Karen Collins who displays good speed and support knowledge; senior Kathy Fegan, a five-goal scorer last year who attacks well from her left link spot; junior Mary Sadler, a right link with exceptional quickness; junior Ann Gladding, the Gull sweeper who possesses great field savvy; and sophomore Bonnie Maddox, a pleasant surprise for Yeagle last season despite the goalie's outstanding high school (Pocomoke) credentials.

"Bonnie proved herself and gained the respect and confidence of her teammates with strong showings against Maryland and Delaware (both narrow losses) last year," said Yeagle. "She plays well under pressure."

Yeagle anticipates an outstanding crew of freshmen to compete for starting berths. Pam Hopkins, Mardela High alumni, is very strong and a nice addition at the right link position. "She should be a big help in our scoring power." (Coach Yeagle is especially excited about the return of junior wing Susan Dennis after a year's absence.)

Selected to national competition as both a freshman and a sophomore, Dennis evokes a steady stream of superlatives from her coach.

"Susan is fast, has good stickwork, is great at fakes and feints, has great endurance. She is one of the top players in the country, regardless of Division (I, II or III).

While the Gulls face a challenging schedule including University of Delaware, a school they have never beaten, and Elizabethtown, which ousted SSC from the EAIAW Division III Regional Tournament last year, Yeagle oozes confidence.

And when a coach who has won over 86 percent of her games exudes that much confidence, it would be wise to take her seriously. Very seriously.

1979 HIGHLIGHTS

She Gulls Get Championship

Towson-Susan Elliott fired in a goal from short range with 30 seconds to play to rally Salisbury State to a 2-2 tie at the end of regulation and the She Gulls went on to post a 3-1 penalty stroke victory over Towson State in the finals of the Maryland Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women Field Hockey Championships here Saturday.

SSC took a 1-0 lead 4:20 into the game on a penalty corner shot from a difficult angle by Kathy Fegan. But Towson bounced back to take a 2-1 advantage at overtime.

Towson State outplayed the Gulls for much of the final half, but with three minutes to play SSC began applying pressure on Lion goalkeeper Wendy Gallin. Then in the game's final minute, Fegan took a free hit and placed the ball in the striking circle and Elliott fired it past Gallin to force the overtime.

The Gulls were clearly superior in the penalty stroke session to determine the champion. Jane Hayman, Fegan and Elliott flicked the ball into the upper portion of the net, while SSC goalkeeper Bonnie Maddox turned back efforts by Andie Dobbs and Lynne Regier before Glose netted the only Lion goal. When Towson's Kathy McNally missed, clinching the win regardless of how the fifth and final Lion shooter performed, the Gulls were champions in the first time tournament.

Coach Sharon Yeagle cited Fegan for her aggressive play in the final, and the coach commended the play of Karen Collins in the She Gulls 3-0 semifinal win over Frostburg State earlier in the day.

Lori Ford scored two of the She Gulls' goals in their win over the Bobkittens and Cindy Zile notched the other. Maddox had to make six saves to record her seventh shutout of the season.

Salisbury State, 8-2-2, moves on now to the Eastern AIAW championships this weekend at Glassboro State. The She Gulls are seeded second in the eight team field.

COACHES

HEAD COACH

SHARON YEAGLE enters her fifth year at Salisbury State with an imposing four-year record of 51-8-3 (.864) including a Maryland Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women championship and an EAIAW Regional appearance. Undeniably, Yeagle has turned SSC field hockey into one of the premier programs in the country.

Yeagle was an outstanding collegiate performer in her own right, earning MVP honors at Frostburg State in Lacrosse her junior and senior campaigns (she was captain both seasons) and starting four years at right inner in field hockey. She was named to the state All-College hockey squad as a freshman.

After receiving her bachelor of science degree in physical education from Frostburg State in 1970, Yeagle went on to earn a masters in elementary education at Salisbury State in 1976. She joined the SSC PE staff that fall and began her highly successful tenure as both field hockey and lacrosse head coach.

Yeagle, who began work on her doctorate this summer at the University of Utah, recently married William Yeagle, coach of the SSC football team.

ASSISTANT COACHES

SUSAN BYRD enters her second season as an assistant to Sharon Yeagle in both field hockey and lacrosse. Byrd, a Pocomoke City native, lettered three years at SSC in field hockey and twice in lacrosse. A halfback in hockey and third man in lacrosse during her playing career, Byrd currently is an undergraduate student at the college majoring in leisure studies.

BARB ABBOTT begins her first campaign as assistant field hockey coach at Salisbury State this fall. She will be head coach of the SSC "B" team, in addition to her duties assisting head coach Sharon Yeagle with the varsity "A" unit.

Abbott, a Salisbury native, was a two sport star at High Point (N.C.) College (B.S., physical education, 1976). She lettered in field hockey all four years at High Point, climaxing her collegiate career by making the Deep South II all-star contingent at sweeper.
